Not a Hospital, but a pleasant Remedial Home, organized with

A FULL STAFF OF EIGHTEEN PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS. And exclusively devoted to the treatment of all Chronic Diseases.

This imposing Establishment was designed and erected to accommodate the large number of invalids who visit Buffalo from every State and Territory, as well as from many foreign lands, that they may avail themselves of the professional services of the Staff of skilled specialists in medicine and surgery that compose the Faculty of this widely-eclebrated institution.

A FAIR AND BUSINESS-LIKE OFFER TO INVALIDS.

NOT ALWAYS NECESSARY TO SEE PATIENTS.

By our original system of diagnosis, we can treat many chronic diseases just as auccessfully without as with a personal consecution of the control of the co examining our patients. In recognizing disease without a personal examination of the patient, we claim to possess no miraculous powers. We obtain our knowledge of the patient's disease by the practical application, to the practice of medicine, of well-established principles of modern science. And it is to the accuracy with which this system has endowed us that we owe our almost world-wide reputation of skillfully treating lingering or chronic affections. This system of practice, and the marvelous success which has been attained through it, demonstrate the fact that diseases display certain phenomens, we then the support of the skillfull practitioner aright in determining the nature of diseased conditions. The most ample resources for treating lingering or chronic diseases, and the greatest skill, are thus placed within the easy reach of every invalid, however distant he or she may reside from the physicians making the treatment of such affections a specialty. Full particulars of our original, scientific system of examining and treating patients at a distance are contained in "The Fooplo's Common Sense Medical Advisor." By R. V. Pierce, M. D. 1800 pages and over 30 colored and other illustrations. One bed of Cumberland has not been dug or replanted for eight years, and is now as well set with strong, healthy-looking plants as most others. As soon as practicable after picking is over, old exhausted plants are chopped out and their runners thinned to 18 or 20 inches apart. This is a heroic work, and seems to leave nothing but devastation, but it is rapidly done, and when the autumn rains come, strong, new growth sets in, and I take care that there is no competing growth. The soil is mostly clay, some of it heavy, but this, compact as it gets under this system of little tillage, yields quite as well as any of the mellower loam. This method of culture is well suited for female fruit growers, as there is very little heavy labor attending it, but there is never any lack of something to do, except just in the hottest of the summer and the dead of the winter.—[Tyrone, Pa., Correspondent Rural New Yorker.

The other day several well-known young arried men were becoming reminiscent in regard to their wedding-day experiences, and incidentally they began to talk of a young man who was not present. No sooner had the who was not present. No sooner had the conversation taken this turn than the young man came up to the group, which was seated in one of the country offices, and he was called on for his experience. "Well," he said, deliberately, and with droll emphasis in every sentence, "you all know what an infernal wag my father is, and there is no occasion so sacred which he would not desecrate with some mortifying joke. On the day of my wedding I procured a marriage license late in the afternoon and went directly home, leaving it on the table in the library while I went to my room to dress for the auspicious ceremony. Presently my father poked his head in the door and said: "George, did you get your marriage license?" "Yes, father," I replied, and I told him where it was. Now, I will take one of the fellows and place him with his bride at his side in front of an austere minister, who asks: "Will you let me have your marriage license?" That was the position I was in, and I was conscious that sixty pairs of eyes were fixed upon me. 'Ah, certainly,' I replied and took the envelope from inside my vest and handed it to him. Holy smoke, fellows, you ought to have been in my place that next minute, when the preacher slowly lifted the flap of the envelope, gravely took out a piece of brown paper and looked me severely in the face. I stammered that something was wrong, and the whole crowd saemed to coincide, as I heard a faint titter. I cast down my eyes and saw the license pinned to the bottom of my trouser's leg. Bantams are fair layers of small eggs; they will lay not far from sixty eggs a year. They are, though small, excellent for the table, having an abundance of white meat. As they are very small eaters, there is little doubt that they will pay a fair profit, even when kept for purely commercial purposes, though the smallness of their eggs and of their bodies would be an obstacle to their sale in most places. For home consumption this would, of course, be no serious objection.—[H. S. Bablecock, in American Agriculturist.

are: For the cock, twenty-two ounces; cockerel, twenty ounces; hen, twenty ounces, and pullet, eighteen ounces. The standard weights of Bantams other than Game are: For the cock, twenty-six ounces; cockerel, twenty-four ounces; hen, twenty-four ounces; pullet, twenty-twenty-two ounces.

A moment more, and the triangular head, hissing from the coil, flashes swift as if moved by wings. But swifter still the strong stroke of the armed paw that smites the horror aside, flinging it mangled and gasping, in the dust. Nevertheless, pussy does not yet dare to spring; the enemy, still active, has almost instantly reformed his coil; but she is again in front of him, watching—vertical pupil against vertical pupil. Again the lashing stroke; again the beautiful countering; the living death is hurled aside, the scaled skin is deeply torn, one eye-socket has ceased to flame. Once more the stroke of the serpent; once more the light, quick, cutting blow.

But now the trigonocephalus is blind, is stupefied; before he can attempt to coil, Pussy has leaped upon him, nailing the horrible flat head fast to the ground with her two sinewy paws. Now let him lash, writhe, twine, strive to strangle her—in vain! he will never lift his head; an instant more, and he lies still; the fine white teeth of the cat have severed the wertebrre just behind the triangular skull.—It are a cause of the trouble careety were the wortebre just behind the triangular skull.—It are a cause of the trouble careety were the wortebre just behind the triangular skull.—It are a cause of the trouble careety were the wortebre just behind the triangular skull.—It are a cause of the trouble careety were the wortebre just behind the triangular skull.—It are a cause of the trouble careety were the wortebre just behind the triangular skull.—It are a cause of the trouble careety were the wortebre just behind the triangular skull.—It are a cause of the trouble careety were the wortebre just behind the triangular skull.—It are a cause of the trouble careety were the wortebre just behind the triangular skull.—It are a cause of the triangular skull.—It are a caus
